Ambition: Decisions and Consequences

Writing Assignment

Directions: Imagine that your husband or wife—someone you love and trust— tries to talk you into harming a friend or family member in order to reach one of your personal goals…a goal that would change your life tremendously, provide you with power and money, and one that would benefit your husband/wife as well. What would you do? How would you handle the situation? If you went through with the plan, what prices might you have to pay? And what consequences might you face for not going through with the plan? Respond to this prompt in three complete paragraphs. Use the space below for brainstorming and outlining. All parts must be completed and submitted in order to be graded. 100 points
